

Darren Kipp, Producer/ Director

Darren Kipp is a member of the Blackfeet Indian Tribe. Fire Warriors is Darren's directing debut, his previous film and video work has been in the producing aspects of the business. Prior to his film/video work, Darren helped develop the Blackfeet Reservation Development Fund. The fund, a non-profit arm of the Blackfeet National Bank, established the first community endowment fund designed to enhance and develop community-based programs. Mr. Kipp also serves on the Board of Directors for the Piegan Institute, a non-profit organization founded in 1987 that works to research and preserve native languages. Currently, Piegan Institute operates three Blackfeet language immersion schools on the Blackfeet Indian Reservation.